

ReStart Press Release:
Spring 2018 Career Conference

Restart Career Conference! You are invited to attend a free career conference designed to help you get your life and career back on purpose. Underemployed, in work transition, or unemployed, join us at the Restart Career Conference April 14th, 2018.

What You Will Learn:

The bi-annual ReStart Career Conference is a free educational conference that helps those in career transitions gain professional tools and a supportive community as they seek out fulfilling life work.

Participants Will Learn:

- What are my gifts and what is my purpose?
- How to make a career change or career continuation decision?
- How to deal with job change in a positive manner?
- How do I write my story? Resume tools.
- With whom do I communicate? Job search tools.
- How do I communicate my story? Interview skills.

ReStart Mission

Within the broader goals of discovering our purpose and making a difference, the ReStart mission focuses on imparting both life skills and career transition wisdom. We provide professional tools (such as resume tips, networking strategies, and personal evaluations) to those who want to align their careers with their life purpose, and we connect those in career transition with others on the same journey to provide community and support.

This event will be comprised of large group sessions and smaller workshops, with workshop leaders include Human Resource professionals, former CEOs from the local community, and consultants with a broad range of experience and skills.

Following the conference, participants can connect with others in career transition within their geographic community groups, facilitated by Restart Leadership in a structured and confidential environment. Participants are able to benefit from their groups for moral support, networking opportunities, and continued study/application of the conference skills and topics.
